About the Cities you will visit

Tel- Aviv

Tel Aviv is Israel's second city and the country's cultural and commercial capital.

Named "The Mediterranean Capital of Cool" by the New York Times, Tel Aviv is a city with a savvy attitude and cultural astuteness, "the city which never sleeps," a center for nightlife, cuisine, culture, and liberalism. Bordered on one side by the Mediterranean and long stretches of sandy beaches, and the other by glass towers housing technology companies in what is considered to be the world's second most important hi-tech area, Tel Aviv has it all. Prominent museums, restored neighborhoods such as the ancient Port of Jaffa, Neve Tzedek and the White City of Bauhaus style buildings, and a young and diverse population, make Tel Aviv a city which you can never stop exploring.

Exploring Tel Aviv

exploring Tel Aviv is easy – the city is not big, and sites are very accessible. A city for walking or biking, with wide boulevards stretching from north to south, and a city-wide bike rental scheme. If you want a unique take on the city, join one of the many unique flavors of tours taking place in Tel Aviv – from cuisine to nightlife, architecture, and more. This Tel Aviv bucket list is a great starting point.

Tel Aviv is also a great starting point for exploring the region, with easy access to the highlights of Israel (Jerusalem, Dead Sea, Masada, Galilee) and beyond (Eilat, Petra, Wadi Rum) within a one-day trip. Dead Sea & Masada

The Dead Sea known in Hebrew as Yam Ha-Melakh (the Sea of Salt) is the lowest point on earth, surrounded by the stunning landscape of the Negev Desert. The shores of the Dead Sea are the lowest point on the surface of the planet, and the saline water of the lake give the lead to the name 'Dead Sea' because no fish can survive in the salty waters. The other result of the salty water of the Dead Sea is their renowned health and healing properties and the unique feature that one can float naturally in them.

Masada, is, aside from the Dead Sea itself, the great attraction of the area. Atop a mountain to the side of the Sea lies this ancient fortress. With a steep history and ascent, Masada is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and is traditionally climbed early in the morning by tourists wishing to see the ruins at the top as the sun rises over the Dead Sea and mountains of Jordan in the distance. Today it is not necessary to climb, as a cable car has been built

Sunrise Over the Dead-Sea

Eilat, the southernmost city in the country, is considered the undisputed holiday capital of Israel. Geographically, the Gulf of Eilat is located at the edge of a long narrow estuary separating the Arabian Peninsula and the Sinai Desert. As an oasis on the shores of the Red Sea, Eilat provides visitors with a spectacular combination of mountainous desert landscape, a beautiful bay and the summer sun that shines all through the year. Without a doubt, Eilat is one of Israel's unique cities, and one of the most exclusive resorts in the world, attracting over 3 million visitors a year.

The city offers a fantastic range of hotels to suit any budget, restaurants, VAT FREE shopping, and a vibrant nightlife alongside a variety of attractions aimed to suit all types of vacationers. Eilat is famous for its fantastic diving and a top destination for scuba divers seeking to explore spectacular coral reefs and vibrant marine wildlife. Due to its unique location, Eilat, unlike most resort towns, offers nature lovers a variety of hiking and cycling trails through the beautiful and historic landscapes of the Arava Desert.
